Ukraine and the Indo-Pacific: Implications of the end of Post-war Europe for our region.

Presented by

Professor Gordon Flake

Professor Flake will discuss the two primary trends driving the development of regional infrastructure in the Indo-Pacific; concern over growing Chinese influence and worry about waning American power. He will discuss the development of economic groupings such as CPTPP and RCEP, security fora such as AUKUS, and the ARF, and newly emerging mini-laterals such as the Quad. Finally, he will assess the impact of the horrific Russian invasion of Ukraine upon the Indo-Pacific.
